

HAIR & MAKEUP: WARM UP YOUR WINTER LOOK • MODELING • SHOWBIZ • CROWNING CONCEPTS

PAGEANTRY™

CELEBRATING THE GLAMOUR LIFESTYLE

WINTER
2012
EDITION
$4.95 U.S./
$5.95 CAN

IMTA NY

- It's Personal
- Ms. & Mr. Barbizon

Feature Interview

Bobbie Eakes

Stages, Soaps, & Songs

The Crownings

- MAOTeen
- Royal Dynasty
- Teen USA
- Royal Int'l Miss

Sneak Preview 2013

Fashion Showcase

ALL-STAR LINEUP: Emily Floyd, Rebecca Stewart and Gretchen Chandler represent the first the first three titles of the brand new All-Star United States pageant system.

The pageant world welcomed a new system this year, as the Miss All-Star United States Pageant Organization hosted the Miss Teen, Miss and Mrs. Pageants. The inaugural event was held in historic Savannah, Georgia. After a week of events for all the contestants and three phases of competitions (interview, swimsuit, and gown), the first queens were crowned.

Earning the title of Teen All-Star United States was Emily Floyd, while the inaugural honor of Mrs. All-Star United States was bestowed upon Rebecca Stewart. And finally, donning the crown of the first ever Miss All-Star United States was Gretchen Chandler.

The Miss All-Star United States Pageant, led by Gretchen, Emily and Rebecca, is a strongly patriotic group that provides a top quality pageant production whereby providing an outlet for the women of America to continue and advance their community service activities. The Miss All-Star United States Pageant believes in the empowerment and advancement of women across our great nation. It is vital in today's society for young women to get involved and stay active in their communities, state and across the nation. It is imperative that the young women who do not wear the state or national crown realize there is still much more to achieve.

Even more importantly, these ladies who wear these crowns must understand that it does not and will not end with the crown. They must use the crowns to help promote their platforms and charities along with the national platform. As a matter of fact, it is more important for them to stand strong and have powerful support systems to achieve all of the goals of the state and national pageants, along with their own goals. This system's queens strongly believe in providing empowerment and advancement of women while promoting community involvement and a healthy lifestyle.

The Miss All-Star United States Pageant Organization has been years in the making, under the direction of Mrs. Tammy Johns-Brown and Mr. Steven Gambrell. Since each of them has been involved with pageantry for more than 25 years, they are very aware of all the work and heart that goes into producing a pageant and working with the queens for a successful outcome. □

2012 ALL-STAR UNITED STATES

Miss All-Star United States _____ Gretchen Chandler
Mrs. All-Star United States _____ Rebecca Stewart
Teen All-Star United States _____ Emily Floyd

Queen of the Hill - (L-R) Alexandria Taylor Deitz and Miss USA 2006 Tara Conner met at the Sherri Hill Showroom at Planet Hollywood June 2, 2012.

Essence Captured - Staci Loftin Roberts, captured the title of Mrs. North America Essence 2012.

(PHOTO BY SKYE FINE ART PHOTOGRAPHICS)

State Stars - The ANTOS was represented by 'Forget Me Not' Sr. Sweetheart Wendy Martin and Victoria Haakenson, Pre-Teen National Sweetheart, at the Palmer Alaska State Fair Parade.

Pasco Pride - (L-R) Miss Teen American Beauty Maya Rivero congratulated the new Mrs. Pasco Julie Hathorn, along with National titleholder Simona Rivero, Jr. Miss American Beauty. (PHOTO BY SUZI HOSFELD)

Reigny Day - (L-R) Christa Ziefel, Chelsea Coder, Miss Rain Day 2012 Kendall Lewis, Amanda Frampton, and Abigail Walters comprise this year's Miss Rain Day court.

Mall Rats - This year's Global United contestants gathered at the Mall of America in Bloomington, MN.